Guide and List of Titles of Hungarian Publications attached to Minutes of 20th Meeting

There exists in Washington a coordinated effort to procure foreign publications from major areas of the world of interest to the intelligence agencies of the U.S. Government. In view of the fact that foreign reporting on the availability of publications is not consistent on a world-wide basis, it is important to stress that procurement is effective only if we have knowledge of the existence of these publications.

In any interrogation of scientific, technical, professional, or military personnel it is suggested that questions be directed to the publications that were used as source or background information in the course of the study or the work of the individual being interrogated. What were the titles of the publications most frequently used?. What official documents did he use? What was the range of foreign publications giving most effective coverage to his interests: Russian, English, German, etc.?

The publication titles so reported can provide targets for procurement, where we have information on cost factors. In some cases it is important to know that certain titles were not available, together with the reasons why they were not available. Information on editors of scientific and technical journals, and on the authors of books contributing to the knowledge in these fields is of value to our bio-bibliographic resources.

Attached to this guide is a list of the available titles from Hungary. Information which supplements this list, adds to it or describes portions of it, is desirable.
